

Irrational Moments at a Bargaining Table?

An agreement that not reached efficiently because someone was too upset to see the value in it?

A good idea not adopted even though it was the best solution for everyone involved?

A dispute that took a life of its own, and took much longer to resolve, or never was resolved?

When was the other party was not rational?

When your team was not rational?

When you were not rational?